TWO SOLDIERS HELD AS THIEVES

Two soldiers who attempted to rob the Pacific saloon at an early hour this morning and were apprehended by Captain Neilsen and a squad of police as they were making their escape, were arraigned before Police Judge Monsarrat this morning and their cases continued until Thursday morning, July 18.

The men, Peter Hammon, alias John Bates, and Howard Duke, were noticed early in the evening by Charles Lynch, proprietor of the place. According to Lynch, they sat at a table in a corner and talked earnestly until it was time to close the place for the night, when they left together.

Two hours later, the police department received a telephone message from a Chinese resident in the vicinity that some men were robbing the Pacific Saloon. Captain Neilsen and a squad of policemen hurried to the spot in time to catch Hammon, alias Bates, who was just making his escape through the transom of the Nuuanu street entrance.

Search of the interior of the saloon disclosed an open cash register but no one in sight, so Neilsen sent his prisoner to the station under guard and made a personal search of the neighborhood.

Investigation disclosed Duke lying in a nearby doorway and feigning intoxication, but the police, believing that he was acting as look-out while his partner robbed the saloon, placed him under arrest. Both men claimed to be from L. Company, Second Infantry, Fort Shafter.

Eight dollars and a roll of Rapid Transit Company small change were found on the persons of the men when searched.

WHITE PLAGUE TAKES ITS TOLL

Of the twenty-four deaths from contagious diseases recorded in Honolulu during the month of June, twenty-two are ascribed due to tuberculosis.

This "white plague," commonly considered a disease of modern civilization because it is best known in countries of higher civilization, claims the majority of its victims in the Territory among the Hawaiians and Orientals.

Discussing the situation this morning Governor Frear said that it seemed to be practically unknown here until about ten or twelve years ago. From that date until about three years ago, when a strong campaign was begun against the malady, it worked havoc among the natives and foreign classes, but it is not as prevalent at present.

Overcrowding at night in the sleeping quarters, and the closing of all doors, windows and crevices that afford ventilation appear to be the principal features causing its spread among the working people," said the Governor. "As soon as these people can be taught the value of fresh open air, the disease may be gradually stamped out."

BABY IS JUST LIKE A BIG RUBBER DOLL

Has Few Small Cuts from Being Struck by Trolley and Three-Story Fall

NEW YORK, June 29.—Two-year-old Helma Hansen crawled out upon the fire escape of her home on the third floor on Second avenue last night and fell through the aperture to the pavement. Patrolman McGuire picked her up, carried her to a drug store and called a Harlem Hospital ambulance. Dr. McKinley found the child had no worse injury than lacerations above the right eye.

When he had bathed her face he looked at McGuire and said: "Great Scott! It's the same kid." To which McGuire replied: "I'll be blown if it ain't."

It was the second time little Helma had escaped severe injury this week. On Tuesday she wandered into the middle of the street while her mother was shopping and was struck by a street car. But its fender happened to be in working order and carried her along. Patrolman McGuire was the man who got her out, and it was Dr. McKinley who dressed her small scalp wound.

When Mrs. Hansen had Helma safely tucked in bed last night the mother said it was the little stone amulet the child wore about her neck that had saved her.
